WHAT IS THE TELEVISION BUREAU OF CANADA?

FUNCTION & ROLE - CUSTOMER RESPONSE SERVICES

TVB is a Resource Centre for its members - Canadian television stations, networks, and their sales representatives. TVB markets the benefits, values and effectiveness of television as an advertising medium collectively to advertisers and agencies.

As the pre-eminent Canadian centre for media information about television, TVB's role is to collect, interpret, develop, identify, and communicate information and facts about television to be used:

- 1) by members to effectively market television; and
- 2) directly by advertisers and agencies.

The Television Bureau's collection of data for members, agencies and advertisers is driven by the guiding principle of achieving increasingly effective television advertising for users of the television medium in Canada.

TVB Resource Centre

www.tvb.ca

A resource which provides members with instant access to an extensive library of information with daily updates. This includes:

- 1) Information Centre: Industry statistics which look at revenues, viewing trends, media attitudes, technology penetration, as well as a variety of industry research and marketing insights that are relevant to the industry
- 2) Case Studies: A compilation of successful advertising campaigns in terms of return on marketing investment, which show that television can be a highly profitable investment
- 3) Category Files: Advertising expenditure data from Nielsen Media Research combined BBM's RTS database to provide category-specific information for advertiser segments
- 4) Industry Hot Buttons: Research and reporting on CRTC decisions, broadcasting issues, the industry technology and trends that are affecting the modern television landscape
- 5) Special Reports: Retail Sales Report by Province, New Motor Vehicle Sales by Province, and the DesRosiers Automotive Report
- 6) Research: Annual research studies that look at Media Attitudes, Cross-Media Reach & Time Spent, Ad Receptivity, TV/Internet Synergy, as well as in-depth research projects that examine the New TV Landscape or Engagement with television

TVBasics 2014-2015

- 7) TVB Archives - Available to members, advertisers and agencies, TVB has one of the largest collections of media and television research papers available in Canada.
- 8) TVBasics - Available to practitioners in the industry, TVBasics is the ultimate compendium and reference guide on television, including viewing trends, statistics, station information and industry composition data, market and regional facts about television.

ADVANCING EXCELLENCE IN TELEVISION CREATIVE

TVB plans and manages the Bessies and the TVB Retail Commercial Awards competition. These annual events are designed to encourage the development of effective TV creative in Canada and to acknowledge all those who excel.

TVB TELECASTER SERVICES

Telecaster Services pre-clears English and French commercials, infomercials and public service announcements on behalf of its member channels using member-approved guidelines. Before issuing a Telecaster number, the final production must be reviewed; however, preliminary script approval will be provided when requested. Each commercial, upon acceptance, will receive a Telecaster number signifying to the station's traffic department that all other clearance numbers, when applicable, have been received.

COMMERCIAL LIBRARY

The Television Bureau video library is Canada's largest TV commercial archive with over 115,000 commercials dating back to 1957. For a nominal charge, we provide copies of TV commercials to support our clients' efforts in:

- Researching brand or retail categories for new business purposes,
- Staying up-to-date with production styles and techniques,
- Understanding competitors' ad strategies,
- Showcasing television as the most powerful advertising medium through sight, sound, motion and emotion.

TV spots are available in digital format and on DVD. Since TVB works with first-generation materials (as opposed to off-air dubs), the video quality of our reels is superior to that of many similar services.

TVBasics 2014-2015

The library also includes U.S. and international advertising. Access to the commercial library is made fast and easy through our extensive computer database. We can search by advertiser, product, title, year, agency, country and production style to respond to clients quickly and efficiently.

We also provide video storyboards. These colour commercial print sheets are made directly from video and can be customized to your order.

TVB SALES ADVISORY CONFERENCE (SAC)

Held every two years and open to all TVB members, SAC is the only national conference in Canada targeted exclusively to commercial broadcast senior sales, marketing and research management. Attended by stations, networks and sales rep organizations, the sales convention includes the right mix of authoritative speakers from within the broadcast and related industries, as well as the advertiser and ad agency communities. Through a series of workshops and presentations, the purpose is to impart topical and practical information in order to put TVB members in a more informed position as they sell commercial television to advertisers and agencies.

TVB.ca

Accessible to all interested individuals and organizations. Visit the TVB website for all the latest information about commercial television in Canada. TVB.ca is the home of TVB's electronic resources and provides TVB members with instant access to research and category information. The public information available on TVB.ca provides non-TVB members with snapshot of the information available to our broadcast members. Non-members seeking greater access to this information are encouraged to contact a sales representative at one of our member organizations.

KEY STRENGTHS OF TELEVISION ADVERTISING IN CANADA

- Reach - Television has unbeatable scale and reach – the highest of any medium in Canada – ideal for advertisers seeking a quick impact in the marketplace
- The most influential, authoritative, powerful, effective, persuasive, engaging and relevant of all media
- Television is the best curator of high-quality, first-run programming
- Television is a key source for news, sports, entertainment and general knowledge
- Television reaches audiences when they are most receptive to ads. Phones and tablets aren't like TVs or magazines, even if they get used that way sometimes. Digital advertising while consumers are online is more a grating intrusion.
- Television is an emotionally engaging media that excites more of consumers' senses than any other medium
- Television drives conversations both online and offline, it is a catalyst for other media
- Television is immediate and timely with the ability to time and place-shift ads
- Television is cost efficient for most target groups
- Television can deliver narrow target audiences through selective placement of commercials in programs
- Television can be purchased nationally, regionally or locally
- Television is the spark that seeds initial awareness
- Television can build lasting emotional bonds with audiences
- Television is exciting and can create high impact with viewers by showing dynamic and visually captivating messages
- Moods and images can be created for brands with television

- Television is an effective direct response tool for many products and services
- Speed - There is no faster way to deliver mass audiences to advertisers
- Social Currency - Television programs are valued and talked about. It engages audiences
- Television is great for sports and live events
- Television is the spine that connects all other media
- TV is different from digital media in that you pay for your target group – and get the rest for free,
- Television builds fame
- TV can shift or reinforce how we feel about brands – TV ads can establish familiarity, which breeds trust, which strengthen brands and builds businesses
- Television ads are response ads and can even be point-of-sale media when used with the internet
- TV offers advertisers critical mass that can't be had with narrow-focused media
- TV reaches people when they are most receptive to advertising messages, when it can resonate with audiences, and get results for advertisers
- TV engages audiences on-air, online and on the go
- The TV experience continues to operate as emotional central heating
- TV is a profit generator
- TV is easy to buy, measure and understand

WHY ADVERTISERS HAVE MADE TELEVISION THEIR MEDIUM OF CHOICE

Television reaches virtually every home in Canada. Television offers the greatest range of advertising qualities. It is set apart from the competing media by its ability to offer sight, sound and motion to generate an emotional response. More specifically, advertisers choose television because of the following:

Brand Image The power of television advertising can be used creatively by advertisers to differentiate themselves from the competition and develop a unique persona that implies credibility, quality and service. By using the qualities of television (sight, sound and motion) advertisers can generate a level of trust, emotion and excitement that cannot be created as well through the use of any other medium. This can help to create a long lasting and memorable brand and corporate image.

Consumers' Perceptions Canadians enjoy television. The average Canadian Adult Aged 18+ spends 28.4 hours per week watching television (Source: Numeris 2014). According to 2014 BBM Analytics survey, television continues to be Canadians' most influential form of advertising. The study also confirms that traditional advertising - including television - is seen at the most engaging medium over other major media.

Cost Many advertisers have the perception that television commercial production costs prohibit their use of the medium. While commercials can be expensive, smaller advertisers with limited budgets can also undertake successful productions. A big idea, with, focus and clarity of message can make the advertiser a winner in consumers' minds despite a very small production budget.

Demonstration Capabilities

The ability to show products in action can easily introduce new products to consumers.

Person-to-Person Communication Ideal person-to-person communication is achieved through a combination of both the spoken word and unspoken elements such as body language and gestures. With both visual and sound capabilities, television comes closer than any other medium to offering the ideal person-to-person communications.

Retention People learn through their senses. By stimulating more senses, the message is more likely to be noticed and learned. Television appeals to the sight and sound senses. The combined power of sight, sound, motion and emotion create a synergistic effect that is more effective than when individual senses are stimulated.

Ad Receptivity Survey

In a survey conducted by BBM Analytics in June 2014, respondents were asked a series of questions regarding their response to advertising delivered by the various media channels. The following questions were posed:

- In which medium are you MOST LIKELY TO NOTICE advertising?
- When are you MOST RECEPTIVE to advertising messages?
- When do you pay the MOST ATTENTION to advertising messages?
- Thinking about your FAVOURITE advertisement, where did you see it?
- Have you ever seen an ad that has made you LAUGH or CRY?
- Where did you see the ad?

The answers were consistent across all demographic groups and regions:

- Television ads are the most noticeable
- People are most receptive to advertising delivered on TV
- People pay the most attention to advertising delivered on TV
- By a wide margin people's favourite advertisement is a TV commercial
- TV advertising is more emotive than any other form of advertising

Adults 18+ Most Receptive to Ads While...

TELEVISION & THE PVR

Despite the fact that PVRs are now in the majority of Canadian households, they have not become the commercial killing machines reported by the media and feared by advertisers and broadcasters. PVRs put that power in the hands of viewers, but viewers are not exercising that power. PVR's are predominantly used as a receiver/tuner for digital television. By June 2014, PVR penetration has grown to 53.4% but time spent watching recorded television in playback mode is still very low at just 6% on a per capita basis and 11% in PVR households. While penetration has grown substantially, usage has not. Advertisers can breathe easier knowing that 92%+ of time all spent watching TV is live and therefore immune to the fast-forward button.

BBM Analytics o/a NLogic asked viewers who do watch recorded television and use the fast-forward button about their behaviour when it comes to commercial content. They found that even in playback commercials were breaking through. More than half of the Adults surveyed say they will stop to watch commercials of interest, and that grew to two thirds among Millennials. And even if they don't stop to watch the commercials, three-quarters of Adults say that they are aware of the advertisers in the commercials they are fast forwarding.

Fifty-three percent of PVR households reported stopping to watch a commercial and 73% are aware of advertisers even in fast-forward mode.

Ipsos Research: The New TV Landscape

In 2014TVB and Ipsos looked at the changing television landscape and found that content is better than ever before, access to it is huge and the vast majority of quality content is provided by broadcast television. While commercial TV is being watched on second screens by the 57% of people in Canada who have smartphones, and 30% with tablets, the overwhelming majority of commercial TV viewing is still on the big screen.

The study found that television numbers are still huge and of the seven hours a day that people spend with media, 47% of that time is spent watching commercial television. Eight out of ten Canadians watched television yesterday and three hours & 18 minutes of that time spent was with commercial television. Netflix represents just 4% of all viewing; 13% of viewing is streamed or downloaded. Eighty percent of all viewing is on a TV screen whereas, 20% is on a computer and 2% each for tablets and smartphones.

The data clearly shows that people want to view their video on the best screen available. TV still provides the best sound, screen and picture size in an enjoyable comfortable setting where viewers are the most receptive to commercial messages. TV benefits from ease of use, is an escape, a social currency and it is a way to stay relevant.

The Miracle Food: The Broccoli Television Case Study

TVB and John St. conducted a campaign to communicate and promote Broccoli as a product, using television as the sole medium of advertising. The campaign was aired over a 5-week period (January 4, 2010-February 7, 2010) in B.C. and Ontario where the impacts of the campaign were closely measured and analyzed. A simple HTML website was put in place to track results.

Objectives:

Prove TV advertising is effective by:

1. Making Broccoli relevant to consumers by raising top of mind awareness by 20%, and intent to purchase by 10%. Using nothing but TV advertising
2. Increasing Broccoli sales by more than 5% using nothing but TV advertising.

Communication Strategy:

The communication strategy was simple: Using only TV, generate sufficient interest in a product that has not been advertised in recent memory by demonstrating that on its own, TV can increase sales, awareness, and positive perceptions of Broccoli.

Business Results:

Two keys sets of metrics were used to measure success: advertising impact, and sales results. A pre-post tracking study was conducted by Ipsos in October 2009 and October 2010 to measure the impacts of communications on consumer perceptions and awareness. The study included 1,636 adults, aged 18-64. The study was conducted prior to the campaign with a post wave at the end of the 5 weeks.

Top of mind awareness for Broccoli went from receiving no mentions to being the second most recalled produce in the study. 13% of consumers responded they had purchased at least one more bunch of Broccoli in their latest shopping trip compared to the pre-campaign period. The intent to purchase at least one more bunch of Broccoli had also increased by 13%.

Driving this claimed behaviour was strong ad impact: Unaided ad awareness reached 65% (nearly 20 points ahead of research supplier norms for similar tactical campaigns), and aided awareness was nearly ubiquitous at 90% of respondents.

Post Campaign Ratings:

Using social media metrics (Radion 6 and Google metrics), we saw average mentions of ‘broccoli’ or “miracle food” increase by 444% during the campaign and the weeks that followed. Search volume was up 100% vs. the same period in 2008 and 2009. Broccoli’s fan page on Facebook attracted 17, 000+ followers and over 30,000 were intrigued enough by the television ads to watch them again on Youtube. An additional 20, 000 people watched the 15+ spoofs created and posted online by users. The most revealing metric; Broccoli sales rose 8% versus the same period in 2009 vs. 2010, according to AC Nielsen.

Cause and Effect between Advertising and Results

No variables were introduced other than the introduction of the 5-week TV campaign. The U&A and AC Nielsen sales data combined with web and social network monitoring metrics all showed direct spikes during the period in which “The Miracle Food Campaign” was in market.

Conversely, we noticed a sharp decline in these metrics after the campaign was stopped. To ensure real correlations, we used generic key words such as “broccoli”, as well as specific terms such as “the miracle of food” to understand if the campaign was driving the reported metrics.

So in summary...the impact of the TV spots was linked directly to consumer activity via the U&A study and the increase in sales. The U&A clearly identified consumer perceptions of Broccoli had changed for the positive, and the intent to purchase and purchase volume would increase, as shown by the 8% increase in broccoli sales.

As you can see with this study, TV advertising continues to be the premier method of creating product/brand awareness and impacting consumers on a multitude of levels.

*The methodology used to collect data changed significantly in Fall 2012 with the introduction of the Personal Diary. Prior years were based on set-top diary methodology. Due to these changes, it is not recommended that data from Fall 2012 be trended with past surveys. The hockey lockout also substantially impacted TV viewing in Fall 2012.
